

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The Europe Horizon Fund aims to overperform the Stoxx Europe 600 EUR Index NTR (SXXR) (the "Benchmark Index"). In order to achieve its objective, the Fund gains exposure to the performance of a portfolio composed of 75 companies in the European zone selected according to extra-financial (ESG) and financial quality criteria, combined with risk control mechanisms. The Europe Horizon Fund selects it from a universe made up of the 200 largest European capitalizations with sufficient liquidity. The latter is done around two axes that are an ESG bias (described in the prospectus available on the website of the Management Company), 25% of the companies with the lowest ESG scores being eliminated, and an important focus on the quality of the selected shares, only the most financially sound companies and with the best fundamentals being retained. At the end of this selection, the weight assigned to each constituent and included in a range of 0.666% to 3.333%, is obtained via a proprietary methodology based on adjusting the weight of each share in the portfolio according to its relative contribution to the risk of the portfolio as a whole (equal risk contribution methodology)." in order to obtain an optimal portfolio allocation in profile of risk/return. The fund's exposure to the basket of securities can vary from 0 to 150% in order to stabilize the risk profile of the fund. It is reviewed weekly and adjusted for volatility. The Europe Horizon Fund applies a policy of distributing a fixed dividend of EUR 5 per fund unit per year, divided into 12 identical monthly payments. If the dividends actually received by the fund are lower (respectively higher) than the fixed dividend distributed, the net asset value of the fund will be reduced (respectively increased) compared to a fund distributing all the dividends actually received. Without taking into account the dividends actually received by the fund, the impact of the policy of distributing a fixed dividend on the net asset value of the fund is greater in the event of a decrease from its initial level (negative effect) than in the event of an increase (positive effect). Thus, in the event of a continued bearish market, the decline in the fund's net asset value will be accelerated.

MONTHLY COMMENT

The month of July was marked by positive growth figures in the United States and the Eurozone. In the United States, GDP growth resumed after the contraction in Q1-25, reaching +3% quarter-on-quarter annualized (0.7% in European publication), thus exceeding consensus expectations (2.6%). This result is mainly explained by the end of anticipations of advance purchases ahead of tariff increases, with the depletion of previously built-up inventories leading to a decrease in imports. July was also marked by the conclusion of trade agreements by the United States with the European Union and Japan, establishing tariff increases of 15%. While inflation stood at 2.7% in the US in June and the unemployment rate reached 4.2% in July, the Fed decided to keep its rates unchanged.

In the Eurozone, growth rose by 0.1% quarter-on-quarter in Q2-25, in line with consensus, after 0.6% quarter-on-quarter growth in Q1-25. The growth momentum for 2025 now stands at 1.1%. However, this positive growth reflects different economic conditions among the main economies in the region. The ECB also decided to keep its rates unchanged as inflation reached 2% in July.

In this context, equity markets were favorably oriented. The S&P 500 increased by 2.2% over the month of March, while the Nasdaq recorded a rise of 2.4%, driven by IT companies whose earnings increased by 35% in Q2. In Europe, markets showed more moderate gains, with the Euro Stoxx 50 rising by 0.3%, supported by industrial (+88%) and IT (+34%) earnings in the second quarter. The German DAX posted better performance over the year, with a 0.7% increase, still supported by the German stimulus plan, while the Spanish Ibex saw a strong rebound with a 2.9% rise in July. The CAC 40 advanced by 1.4%, supported by banking stocks.
