MONTHLY COMMENT

The month of April was marked by tariff announcements from President Trump. After a massive tariff hike announcement on April 2 (Liberation Day), a three-month pause was ultimately decided for some of them to open negotiations. However, a floor level of 10% remains effective, along with particularly significant tariff increases on Chinese goods (up to 145%), which were accompanied by substantial retaliatory measures. Anticipating these new tariffs, imports to the United States surged, resulting in a 0.3% decline in GDP for Q1. Meanwhile, inflation remains contained in the United States (at 2.3% in March) ahead of the implementation of the tariff increases. In Europe, growth remains moderate at 0.4%, and inflation remains stable around 2%, allowing the ECB to implement another rate cut of 25 basis points, bringing it down to 2.25%.

In the United States, over the course of the month, the S&P 500 was nearly unchanged after a sharp decline (-12%) followed by a recovery following the announcement of the opening of negotiations. The Nasdaq followed the same trend, plunging before returning to its early-month level, with semiconductors ultimately remaining the only Chinese products exempt from tariffs. In Europe, markets followed a similar pattern. The Euro STOXX 50 recorded a drop of 13% after Liberation Day, before returning to its early April level.

Volatility was also evident in sovereign rates. The yield on Treasuries experienced significant volatility, before settling around 4.17% at the end of the month, as markets were reassured after President Trump clarified his intentions regarding the independence of the Fed. In Europe, the yield on the 10-year Bund fell from 2.7% to 2.45%, reflecting investors' risk aversion.
